

Welcome!
We're delighted that you've chosen to visit us today

In 1201 King John granted a charter for the holding of a fair in Reach and it has taken place ever since, year by year, through the good times and the not so good times. According to original custom, it is opened by the Mayor of Cambridge accompanied by the Aldermen in full regalia and penny coins are thrown to visitors in the crowd. This programme will give you information on what you can expect from your day in Reach – and while you are here, why not take the opportunity to explore our lovely village!

Make sure you follow us on Twitter and Facebook during the day for updates and announcements:
